OUR COURSE.

Good mottos, when lived up to, are useful guides for those who choose them for direction. But with bookmakers and editors who use these talismanic words as guides in their pathways it is often very much like the practice of many preachers, who take texts, and elucidate by saying nothing relevant to them. In conducting this paper we emblazon no motto, or take no text, but let its name be the indicator of the spirit whereby it is aimed to be controlled. The word INDEPENDENT is a broad enough phylactory, and it means, or ought to, according to our apprehension, an effort to present the right without consulting stereotyped authorities which set themselves up to to govern the world, when very often they can't control themselves.

In pursuing this course we are perhaps about as well aware of being open to criticism as are many good people who give us free advice on this and that subject. Advice is all well, and there are two things in regard to it—those to whom it is given can take it or let it alone. We may err in not adopting much advice that we hear, but who is to be the judge?

Frequently in making selections for this paper we insert articles that are regarded, from an orthodox stand point, as great heresies. While the sentiments contained in such selections are not parallel with the ideas of those who profess superior sanctity, they cannot, we think, justly characterize them as subversive of all that is good—there are some redeeming traits about them.

We don't regard it as inexcusable audacity, by any means, to assume that there is any standard in morals or religion that is above or beyond criticism. Taking this ground, then, we have been liberal in presenting such views of ecclesiastical movements as seemed just—for although these authorities stand high in the popular sentiment, and often very high in their own esteem—they, also, are fair subjects for examination. If they can't stand fair opposition let them fall; time will tell if they can withstand the sifting to which modern scruting subjects them. We give these selections, too, as something out of the ordinary course of newspaper readings and find this result—they cause the reader to think. New ideas are presented to many, and thus they learn something, gain broader views, and imbibe sentiments of liberality or charity, one of the highest graces of Christianity. Moreover, while there are sincere opinions of dissent from the liberal sentiments we publish sometimes, there are also not a few expressions of approval, and that, too, among the class which on all hands is acknowledged to be intelligent.

While we have pursued this free course, there has been no time when we have not offered, both tacitly and openly, to publish the candid sentiments of those who differ from such ideas as appear in these columns that are objectionable. That is fair as can be asked, but none have availed themselves of this liberality, to publicly express their dissent in these columns. Even our editorial brethren don't administer words of reproof, although some of them are as awfully orthodox as the man John Knox. If they feel it their duty let them pitch in—nobody will hurt them.

EUCHER.

In the chronicles of a court held many years ago in one of the counties of Ohio, when it used to be said there were 1-000 judges on the bench—i. e. one man and three ciphers—an incident like this is recorded; perhaps not in white and black, but in the memory of sundry patriarchs of judicial doings. This quartett of dispensers of justice, "it is norrated," were great lovers of euchre; and it is further said, that they burned out numerous candles, by whose dim light they handled the picture papers, not refraining to moisten their whistles with something stiff at brief intervals; and to give the game zest would sometimes stake a dollar or two, ye know—one of them run a grocery. The prosecuting attorney had a young man arrested for gambling at euchre, always winning the stakes. who seemed to have no friends at court, so in the long list of members at the bar the judges selected a new one, not a noisy man, yet pretty sharp—and he knew eucher like the multiplication table. As this duty came on him unexpectedly, he asked a little time to see and talk with his client, which was granted by adjourning a few hours.

On reassembling, after the O-yez! O-yez! &c., of the crier, the defense said he was ready for trial. The prosecuting attorney performed his duty by reading the indictment, producing proof and making a speech, for everybody seemed satisfied the accused was guilty. But the defense was not disposed to give it up so. He (the lawyer) said he knew nothing of euchre, but during the interval of court he consulted experts on Hoyle, who initiated him in the mysteries of the game. To illustrate his plea he drew a pack of cards from his pocket, handling them rather awkwardly, and supposed a case. In order that the explanation might be familiar he put it in this way: Suppose your honors, A, B, C, and D, wished to have a game. Judges A and B would play against C and D. He dealt the cards on the table, and went into the minutia of the game, all the time using the judges as illustrators of his idea, and watching them with eagle eyes—for he was posted on their card playing. The chief justice was an enormous user of tobacco, and when excited would dispose of a box of fine cut in a short time. He used his molars vigorously on this occasion. Two of the ciphers enjoyed the fun, but the other was worried. The whole bar and many of the outsiders were choking with laughter, so cleverly and coolly—"so child-like and bland"—did this disciple of Blackstone perform his part. After making the "court" sweat till all dignity was limp as a wet rag, and the bench was annoyed at being the but of ridicule, the chief justice hastily said—"Mr. Prosecutor, nolle the case." That was the climax. Every thing like gravity was gone, and the accused was let off scot free.

A VALLEY OF DESOLATION.

A spot almost as terrible as the prophet's valley of dry bones lies just north of the old Mormon road to California, a region thirty six miles long by thirty broad, and surrounded, except at two points, by inaccessible mountains. It is totally devoid of water and vegetation, and the shadow of bird or wild beast never darkens its white glaring sands. The Kansas Pacific Railroad engineers discovered it, and also some papers which show the fate of the lost Montgomery train, which came south from Salt Lake in 1850, guided by a Mormon. When near Death's Valley they came to the conclusion that the Mormons knew nothing about the country, so they appointed one of their number a leader, and broke off from the party. The leader turned due west; so with the people and wagons and flocks he traveled three days, and then descended into the broad valley, whose treacherous mirage promised water.

They reached the centre, but only the white sands, bounded by scourching peaks, met their gaze. Around the valley they wandered, and one by one the men died, and the panting flocks stretched themselves in death under the hot sun. The children, crying for water, died at their mothers breasts, and with swollen tongues and burning vitals the mothers followed. Wagon after wagon was abandoned, and strong men tottered and raved and died. After a week's wandering a dozen survivors found some water in the hollow of a rock in the mountain. It lasted but a short time, when all perished but two, who escaped out of the valley and followed the trail of their former companions. Eighty-seven families, with hundreds of animals, perished there; and now, after twenty-two years, the wagons still stand complete, and iron work and tires are bright, and the shriveled skeletons lay side by side.

A PERSIAN SCHOOL.—A Persian school is a very funny affair. The room is generally open to the street. Looking in, one sees a lot of boys squatted on their heels on the floor round the mollah, all rocking themselves to and fro, and all repeating aloud the tasks they have committed to memory. The result is a little Babel of sounds—a jumble, to those who do not understand the language, of verses from the Koran, drinking and love songs from Hafiz, and heroic lines from Fridousi. These are the books most studied, and a Persian's education is pretty well completed when he can quote freely from them and talk a little Arabic. Hafiz is the favorite poet, and he is quoted and recited by all classes, as was Tasso, some years ago, by the gondoliers of Venice.

A MYSTERY.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

The river hemmed with leaning trees
Wound through its meadows green,
A low, blue line of mountains showed
The open pines between,

One sharp, tall peak above them all
Clear into sunlight sprang;
I saw the river of my dreams,
The mountains that I sang!

No clew of memory led me on,
But well the ways I knew;
A feeling of familiar things
With every footstep grew.

Not otherwise above its crag
Could lean the blasted pine;
Not otherwise the maple hold
Aloft its red ensign.

So up the long and shorn foot-hills
The mountain road should creep;
So green and low, the meadow fold
Its red haired kine asleep.

The river wound as it should wind,
Their place the mountains took;
The white, torn fringes of their clouds,
Wore no unwonted look.

Yet ne'er before that river's rim
Was pressed by feet of mine,
Never before mine eyes had crossed
That broken mountain line.

A presence, strange at once, and known,
Walked with me as my guide;
The skirts of some forgotten life
Trailed noiseless by my side.

Was it a dim remembered dream?
Or glimpse through æons old?
The secret which the mountains kept,
The river never told.

But from the vision ere it passed
A tender hope I drew,
And, pleasant as the dawn of spring,
The thought within me grew,

That love would temper every change,
And soften all surprise,
And, misty with the dreams of earth,
The hills of heaven arise.

SOCIAL PROGRESS IN THE EAST.

We hear much now-a-days about the material progress of Japan. It was a great thing that that empire, after a peaceful seclusion of ages, should open its gates of bronze to all mankind. It was a notable and a picturesque exhibition of political advancement when the first Embassy came forth and visited the United States and Europe. From these great beginnings Japan has gone on with her additions, importations and modifications until it seems as if the nation would be so remodeled that it would not be accurate to call it Japan any more; it must have a new name and a new description. What with its Parliament, school system, internal revenue taxation, national flag and coinage, railroads, telegraphs, newspapers, and other paraphernalia of civilization, Japan seems utterly metamorphosed. He who would see a picturesque old nation covering the islands of the ancient archipelago of Zipangu must go thither in haste. The mild-mannered, loosely-robed, tranquil Sunrise kingdom of Mendez Pinto and St. Francis Xavier is fast becoming a fair translation of western Europe, revised and corrected by the Great Republic. No more sleepy folding of hands and comfortable doing-nothing for old Japan; steam, common schools, police courts, worry, heat, restlessness, and scrambling for money and position—these have come into the country with the Anglo-Saxons.

But the signs of progress in Japan, which are small when compared with the great strides made by the nation and the national government, are no less significant. The changes in the social ordinances of the country, proclaimed by imperial edict, are most surprising. For example, the Tenno, as the ruler of the Empire is now called, has adopted the European style of dress. He may privately wear his traditional petticoats for the sake of personal comfort; but he allows himself to be seen when arrayed in modern trousers, waistcoat, and a gold-embroidered dress-coat. He requires his ministers to attend his weekly lavees attired in just such a dress as that worn by a professional diner-out in New York. It is not true, as reported, that men are to be allowed to wear their top-knots: they must dress their hair in the European style, and the top-knot, if its owner hesitates, is to be severed by the remorseless shears of the police Atropos. The women are actually forbidden to employ hair-dressers, but must henceforth "do" their own hair.

What a commotion such an order would make among the belles of New-York or Paris! The paternal government, however, tells the people that time and barber's fees thus saved may be devoted to the improvement of their education. The marriage tie is made more binding than before; concubinage is forbidden and the yoshi-warra, or market for prostitutes, is abolished. An order of knighthood is instituted, which, like that of the Bath, is divided into two classes—civil and military. Laziness is attacked by the government—and the soft mats with which the Japanese cover their floors are forbidden as inducing lounging habits. Dogs are taxed, and every cur struggles about with a huge wooden license-tag hanging to his neck. One of the most radical changes ordered by the Tenno is that in the Japanese calendar. Heretofore, the years have dated from the accession of Zinmu Tenno, the first Emperor—as we should call him—of Japan. The day was divided into twelve parts of two hours each. The Japanese calendar is now harmonized with that of foreign nations, beginning with Jan. 1, 1873, which is to be considered as the first day of the month of the 2533d year of Zinmu Tenno. Each seventh day (our Sunday) is to be a holiday; and the 25th of December (Christmas) is to be held sacred to the memory of the aforesaid Zinmu Tenno. We have grafted our Christmas on the pagan Saturnalia; now it is turned back to a pagan memorial day in Japan. The months are not yet named, but will be known for the present as First, Second, etc., in primitive Quaker fashion. There are scores of other such radical innovations in Japan, all of which mark more sensibly than great changes the rapid progress of the people in what we call civilization. After all, however, we can hardly avoid a feeling of pain when we see a great people so rapidly becoming denationalized. We can hear with patience of the daily Kobun Tushi (Public Recorder), or the weekly Ibaraki Simpo (Declarer of News) on a purely independent basis; but it is not pleasant to think of national customs, habits, costumes, and observances being swept away in a twelvemonth for the unpoetic and hard usages of our sort of modern society. The Japanese are fond of novelty; they want a new language, a new religion, and a new government. It is good that they have secured much that is best for a people to have; let us hope that they will not, in their haste to be like other nations, go so fast and so far that they will by and by regret that they have entered the race at all. —Tribune.

WATER AND SYPHONS.

The lifting of water is work that has become somewhat prominent during the past two seasons, when the supply has frequently to be drawn from some distance. A correspondent who lives in New Jersey, has been making a trial with the syphon, and gives his experience of twenty one years. It may be well for those who would like to try this method of procuring water to understand that as the raising of water in the lake is occasioned by atmospheric pressure, the hight to which water can be forced by any syphon cannot be over 33 feet. The writer says:

"I have had a syphon in operation twenty-one years. It is one half inch pipe, about 900 feet long, with a fall from 15 to 22 feet (depending on the depth of water in the well.) I started it with a pump, which is the best way, and when the water came I stopped pumping, and soon the water ceased to run. I applied the pump several times with the same result. Having had no experience, I supposed when the water once came it would flow continuously; but a friend suggested that I pump a while after the water came, which I did and the water ran freely, and continued to do so, and will if there happens to be no leak near the section. I have cut off the water several times, and started again in the same manner. It has run now six years without disturbance. Last year I built a new house on higher ground, and wishing to introduce water into it, I sunk in the same well a new half inch pipe, about 600 feet long, with a fall of water from 5 to 12 feet. I feared that this was too slight, but made the trial. Had the pipe put down in the best possible manner, started the pump and pumped a long time after the water came; but in a few days it ceased to run, and despite frequent pumpings, continued troublesome through the winter and spring. I was using a second-hand pump, and imagined it did not work well. So I obtained a new one of the best kind, had it soldered in, and applied it thoroughly. The water came readily, and has kept up a good flow for four or five months, and it works as well as the old syphon. I consider that in this case the trouble was occasioned by a poor pump. P. Walton is mistaken in saying, that 'when the discharge is reduced by the stop cock the water will cease flowing.' Mine has been running twenty-one years with about one quarter the capacity of the pipe. It runs this amount in a trough at the barn for the stock. At the house we draw it with a faucet. This small stream running constantly at the barn keeps the water fresh and prevents it from freezing. It is not necessary to stop the syphon at both ends. I have stopped mine for thirty-six hours, at the house, and it would start again readily. My syphon lifts the water about sixteen feet when it is lowest."

Big Mr. Hawkins (sententiously)—"Do you know, Mr. Jawkins, it has often struck me that one man's food may be another man's poison?"

Little Mr. Jawkins (more sententiously)—"Well, I won't go so far as to say that, Mr. Hawkins. But I am certainly of the opinion that what may prove eminently beneficial to the health—a—of one individual—a—may prove extremely detrimental, and, indeed, absolutely fatal to another individual—a—differently constituted—a!"

BOYS KILLED BY TOBACCO

A son of Mr. —— of Troy, N. Y., had acquired the habit of chewing long before he had arrived at the age of twenty. He became subject to frequent attacks of epilepsy. It was discovered that the epileptic seizures never occurred except when using tobacco. The experiment was tried of depriving him of his quid. This could be done no other way, than by confining him to his room, which was done in one instance for three months. During his confinement and abstinence he had no attacks. As soon however, as he was allowed to go out he procured his favorite drug, and was very soon brought home in one of his fits. These would occur daily, as long as he had access to the poison, until at length he became completely idiotic and died.

Another case of later date, a son of Mr. H., of the age of fifteen, was taken home from a public school on account of having had several attacks of epilepsy. After a few months it was discovered, during one of his attacks, that he had tobacco in his mouth. Directions were given for regulating his diet, and he was advised to omit the use of tobacco. While he abstained from it he was free from any epileptic attack. The attacks, however, frequently returned, and on every occasion, tobacco was found either in his mouth or pocket. The administration of medicine was finally given up as unavailing, and after dragging out ten years of a life, useless to his friends and himself, he died. The poor boy came to nothing!

An inquest was held on the body of a child named Richard Edmondson, who died under rather extraordinary circumstances. Deceased, 17 years old about a fortnight before his death purchased half an ounce of tobacco. He chewed it and swallowed some of the juice. Directly after, he was seized with tremor in the limbs. He fell into a lethargic sleep and remained unconscious. After the lapse of a few days he had a kind of tetanic spasm, and there was a rigidity about the stomach which almost prevented his swallowing. He was much convulsed, and after a few weeks of painful illness, he died.

A post-mortem examination was made by a doctor which showed that the body was somewhat emaciated. Nothing was found in the stomach except a quantity of dark matter. In reply to the coroner, the Doctor said that the appearance of the stomach and brain had led him to the conclusion that death had resulted from poison, and that poison was tobacco.

D. W., a lad 16 years of age, a great smoker, enters a saloon and in a short time drops dead with a cigar in his mouth. C. M., an enormous smoker, just found dead in his chair. L. D. F. smoked five cigars in the evening, retired, and was found dead in his bed.

Tobacco has spoiled thousands of boys,—inducing a dangerous precocity, developing the passions, softening the bones, and injuring the spinal marrow, and whole nervous system. A boy who early and freely uses tobacco is seldom known to make a man in the true sense: he generally lacks energy of body and mind. Boys, if you wish to be anybody, despise tobacco. Fight it.

We publish in another column the call for the Prohibition State Convention. It will be seen how nobly it comes out for woman suffrage. The Chairman of the executive committee of the state woman suffrage association Mrs. Janney, writes us that she shall attend as a voting delegate, and help nominate good men on their state ticket. She adds, "I must now take my place politically where my heart and conscience dictate." Wherever the the judgment of women may direct their sympathies in politics—and this in the nature of things must vary, as on all other mooted questions—every woman must feel a sense of gratitude to a party who fearless in reform, comes out fearlessly for the rights of woman. Did the Prohibition party stand where the republicans now do, this hesitating and quibbling which distracts and distresses all persons who urge immediate enfranchisement, would not exist. But, at least in Ohio, women would very soon experience the full benefits of impartial citizenship. The Massachusetts and New Hampshire republican platforms urge the same thing, but it is slow waiting for the legislators throughout this great party to agree as a majority; whereas the position is one which every true minded man should adopt at the first flush. —Toledo Journal.

It is the essential nature of all wines and spirits to send an increased amount of blood to the brain. The first effect of taking a glass of wine or stronger form of alcohol, is to send the blood there faster than common, hence the circulation that gives the red face. It increases the activity of the brain, and it works faster, and so does the tongue. But as the blood goes to the brain faster than common, it returns faster, and no special harm results. But suppose a man keeps on drinking, the blood is sent to the brain so fast, in such large quantities, that in order to make room for it the arteries enlarge themselves; they increase in size, and in doing so they press against the more yielding flaccid veins which carry the blood out of the brain, and thus diminish their size and their pores, the result being that the blood is not only carried to the arteries of the brain faster than is natural or healthful, but it is prevented from leaving it as fast as usual; hence, a double set of causes of death in operation. Hence, a man may drink enough brandy or others spirits in a few hours, or even minutes to bring on a fatal attack of apoplexy. This is literally being dead drunk.—Dr. Hall.

Massillon, Wednesday, February 19.

According to democratic authority anything that Oakes Ames, the great credit mobilier man has in his little book, is so, and there is no use in denying it. With this class of politicians that little book is a far greater production than the little book of the martyr, John Rogers, in which he said:

I leave you here a little book,
For you to look upon,
That you your father's face may see,
When he is dead and gone.

Men who have lived half a century or more, and whose lives are unblemished with a designed wrong or wicked act, here charged in this little book as being guilty of corruption, bribery and rascality in general, and all the democratic papers shout, amen! that's so—just as if they knew all about it, and had seen every particular noted in the little book. With the democracy this precious book is as much authority as the Koran to the Mahommedan, the book of Mormon to the followers of Joe Smith, or even the Christian scriptures to the orthodox believer. Dispute a sentiment in the Koran, and the Turk cries infidel; or question the authority for polygamy and the Morman cries infidel, and dispute the memorandum book of Oakes Ames and every democrat raises the cry infidel, or corruptionist Ames professes to be a republican, even one of the Massachusetts stripe, and because he makes these sweeping charges against republicans, therefore he tells the truth. This is democratic logic If he had made such charges against democrats only these same brethren would have denounced the little book as a pack of lies. Those who are prosecuting this investigation are republicans, and if the accused are proven guilty these democrats may rest assured they will be duly punished. It seems to make them so happy that such a man as Colfax is represented in this little book as a great rascal But according to the best evidence we have seen Mr. Colfax has swept away these charges as though they were the cobwebs of so many spiders.

One kingdom less—one more republic. One day last week Amadeus, late King of Spain, resigned the royal position, and the cortez or legislature, decided by a vote of 259 to 32 in favor of a republican form of government. We hope the people will appreciate this change, but whether they are prepared for such a form of government will have to be determined by time. The legislators are by a vote of more than eight to one in favor of the alteration: and as it has come to them quietly and peacefully it would be well if that mercural nation were to acquiesce. Their last queen was a disgrace Some of their statesmen are among the ablest of legislators, and they ought to be wise enough to make laws for the people.

According to some authorities and observations the ground this winter has been frozen to the depth of three feet, at least, and in peculiar situations frost has penetrated even deeper. It is true we have had some severe weather, but to freeze the earth three or two feet, requires a severity very unusual, and the phenomenon cannot be general. Not many years ago bees could and did come out of their hives every month in the year, but the two last winters it was rather arctic for them to venture to see day light. While it has been so extreme here the present season, we are informed by a gentleman of this city, a native of that part of Germany known as Darmstadt, where the winters are usually about as they are here, that this has been characterized by summer heat almost—and there they want colder weather.

The house postal bill, as it passed that body on the 11th, proposes some important changes In the first place, what is known as letter postage, after the 1st of July next, is to be two instead of three cents, per half ounce Secondly, after January 1, 1874, all printed matter, including newspapers is to be prepaid, and postage on daily papers not exceeding 4 ounces in weight, is to be 15 cents per quarter, with weekly papers free within the county of publication. A reduction of one third in letter postage is very large, and many will regard the step as of doubtful propriety. Mr Farnsworth, chairman of the house committee, thinks that although next year might show a slight deficiency in the postage received from letter mail, within two years the present revenue would be caught up with and past.

Mr. Wilson has resigned his place as senator, and the legislature of Massachusetts will soon elect his successor

In Boston the question of opening the public library on Sundays was discussed for years, but stiff orthodoxy refused to accede to the demand. Still the debate continued, and it was evident that public sentiment was rapidly tending in favor of this movement. The staid, conservative authorities, opposed as well as they could, and as far as they dared, but the tide was becoming too strong for them, and within the last few weeks large numbers of young people, and many others who had no particular place to put in all their time on Sundays, are now seen at the public reading room, spending their time in acquiring knowledge. Anything bad about that?

Last Wednesday congress found out that Gen. Grant was re-elected president, and Henry Wilson vice president. This fact was ascertained by counting the electoral votes of the various states Mr. Hendricks received some 40 votes. Greeley 3, and half a dozen others had divided a few votes among them.

The bill of Hess & Bro. was referred to the committee on water works.

A petition from the twelve residents on Summit street was presented, in which the petitioners ask the city council to stop the L. S. & T. V. Ry. Co from laying a side track on said Summit street The petition was referred to the standing committee on streets and alleys, with instructions to report to this body at its next regular meeting.

Mr. Oberlin offered the following resolution which was adopted.

Resolved, That the street commissioner be instructed to notify the L. S & T. V. Ry. Co., immediately, to desist laying a side track on Summit street north of Main street, provided they are laying said side track.

We find in the New York Commercial Bulletin an estimate of the costs and profits of the sewing machine monopolists, in making and selling their wares during the year before the last. The figures show even a greater swindle upon the public than those upon which we base our comments a few days ago; and ought to be enough to defeat the application of the ring now before congress for an extension of their patents. The Bulletin says:

"From the returns of the number of machines manufactured by eighteen companies in the United States in 1871, it appears that they produced 508,686 machines. A proportionate allowance for the companies from whom no returns have been received would bring the grand total of machines manufactured in the United States last year up to 700,000. If we allow 200,000 for the number of machines exported, the account would stand thus between the sewing machine companies and the American people:

50,000 machines at $50	$25,000,000
Deduct one fifth for cost of manufacturing and patent fees,	5,000,000
Estimated profits in 1871,	80,000,000
Total estimated profits for the last ten years,	$200,000,000

"The fact is clear that for a series of years the public has paid from fifty to eighty dollars a-piece for machines which never cost more than from five to eight dollars each, and which could be sold for fifteen to twenty dollars each, and leave a handsome profit. It is time to throw the business open to fair competition and give the public the benefit of it. The patentees have made money enough out of their invention, and they can afford to stand aside and repose on their profits."—Leader.

There seems to be no doubt of the fact that in attempting to execute the extreme sentence of the law against the conscientious convictions of a large portion of our people, a great number of malefactors escape altogether Michigan is one of the states wherein the death penalty has been entirely abolished. It was done years ago, after a desperate contest, but now every body is apparently satisfied with it There are in her state prison no less than sixty convicts who are serving out life sentences for murder. This shows that they punish murder with some certainty in that state, whereas in New York, with its pretended death penalty a large portion escape. These reflections are apropos of the new trial granted to Stokes: and the question naturally arises as to which of the two systems is best for the interests of society.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

Mr. EDITOR—Having heard of a literary society being organized in the Stanbury district, I availed myself of the opportunity to make them a visit on last Thursday evening, and report to you the proceedings as near as I can recollect them.

The house was well filled, and about 7 o'clock the president, Mr. — Markle called the meeting to order, and after requesting the audience to keep quiet as possible, took his seat.

Then followed the reading of the minutes of the previous evening by the clerk, Miss Donot There being no remarks they were decided correct

Next in order was the speaking of declamations, dialogues, reading selections and compositions. We then had a recess of twenty minutes. After that the question for debate came up, which was as follows:

RESOLVED, That the pulpit has a greater influence over the people than the press.

After debating by different speakers for some time, and hearing remarks on both sides, it became necessary for the president, on account of time, to put it in the hands of the judges, which stood one for the affirmative and two for the negative.

Then followed the reading of the paper, edited and written by Miss Donot, which was got up in very good style. From the demonstrations of laughing and clapping of hands this was considered the best part of the entertainment.

The subject for next meeting was then brought before the house, which is as follows:

RESOLVED, That the United States have passed the meridian of their glory. Next in order was the adjournment. PLEASANT.

THE PRICE OF TYPE.

Messrs. G. P. Rowell & Co. announce that they have at their warehouse in New York an assortment of type from one of the most celebrated type foundries in the world, that of Figgins, London, England, which they will sell at 20 per cent discount from the American scale, when ordered in fonts of 100 pounds and upwards. They also offer to import large fonts on special orders at a greater discount from the American scale, and profess to be able to fill the largest order in 8 weeks from date of its receipt in N. Y. They supply sorts in large or small quantities from their stock on hand in New York at the American scale rate. They assert that if the present duty on type shall be removed, the price of the article, both of home and foreign manufacture, will immediately fall 40 per cent below the present scale. Messrs G. P. Rowell & Co. are known as conducting the largest advertising business ever secured by one house, and are also extensive dealers in printing material. They are compelled to import foreign goods because American founders, governed by a close corporation or ring, keep the price vastly too high, and at the same time make it an exception to every other species of merchandise by recognizing no wholesale price; the same amount per pound being charged to the purchaser of five thousand pounds as would be paid by him who wants but fifty.

OUR PRESENT ELECEORAL SYSTEM

The speech delivered by senator Morton in the United States senate on the defects in our present electoral system will command universal attention throughout the country. According to the senator's views the defects of the system may be enumerated as follows:

First. The lack of uniformity in the appointment of electors.

Second. The want of a proper tribunal to pass upon the question of disputed electors.

Third. The liability of becoming currupt in closely contested elections

Fourth. The possibilities which it presents of defeating the popular vote when a third party is in the field.

Fifth. The injustice which it permits by giving the smallest state in the Union equal power with the largest in voting for president, when the election is thrown into the house.

These defects cannot be denied. The dangers likely to arise from their presence may be magnified, but that they exist, and are liable to develope serious trouble in the future, the thoughtful citizen is forced to admit. The remedy proposed by Mr. Morton has the merit of simplicity and apparent fairness, and deserves the careful consideration of the people

Mr. Morton proposes—

First. To divide each state into districts, equal to the number of representatives and senators to which the state may be entitled; the citizens of each district to vote direct for the president and vice president, and the vote of the district to be counted as one in favor of the candidate who receives the largest number of votes in it.

Second. The designation of some proper tribunal, as far removed from political prejudices as possible, to pass upon all questions arising out of disputed elections.

Third. When the people, through district voting, fail to elect, the senate and house shall meet in joint convention and proceed to an election. The candidates shall be the three who received the highest votes from the people, and each senator and representative shall have one vote, the candidate receiving the largest number of votes to be declared elected.

This, in brief, is the system proposed by the senator from Indiana. Its adoption by the people would simplify our presidential elections and remove all possibilities of dangers from closely contested elections.

An election by the house, under our present system, virtually places the election of president in the hands of the representatives of 8,000,000. The little state of Rhode Island has the same voice as the great state of New York. Each state is allowed but one vote, thus making it possible for a small minority of the people, to over rule, through their delegation in congress, the wishes of an overwhelming popular majority. The injustice of this must be acknowledged by all. The fact of its being only a possible contingency should not excuse its presence. It has within it the germs of danger to our republic and should be changed before we again confront the possible dangers of another presidential campaign.

EX JUDGE UNDERHILL—Has formed a law partnership with John Lahm, Esq, in whose office, in Trump's building, his ex-honor may hereafter usually be found during business hours. Judge Underhill has served four consecutive terms in the probate office of this county, having been first elected in 1860 and entering upon his duties in February, 1861. He has served faithfully, and, we believe, has discharged the duties generally, quite satisfactorily. His long experience in the probate office eminently qualities Judge Underhill for being a safe legal adviser in all matters pertaining to administration and guardian cases growing out of the settlement of estates. He was, too, an old practitioner at the bar before he coming probate Judge. We call attention to the card of the new firm in this paper. All business intrusted to them will be faithfully attended to—S. C. Democrat.

The Illustrated Phrenological Journal

VOLUME FIFTY SIX, 1873.

THE Science of Mind is the central point around which revolves the whole circle of the sciences. It is the key to universal knowledge, and Self-Knowledge is the key to the science of mind. Phrenology, the basis of mental philosophy, shows how human character and capacity are related to the universal laws; and how humanity is harmonized with divinity. "Know Thyself"—Since the Grecian sage inscribed the immortal words on the temple of Delphi, the world has struggled toward a solution of the problems of human existence: The Origin of Races, involving the origin of life, earnestly discussed by ethnologists and physiologists, cannot fail to interest the truth seeker.

Physiology and Psychology are prominent features; embracing the subjects of soul, mind, bodily structure and functions, social relations, education, religion, criminal jurisprudence, &c Physiognomy and temperaments, signs of character, peculiarities of organization considered, with illustrations from life. Self Improvement—All the gains of science and art should be applied to perfecting ourselves and improving the race. Happy Homes are the result of a normal education and development, and a life according to the laws of life. The Phrenological Journal for 1873 will keep pace with the march of events, scientific, social and political, and seek to declare the good and true.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The thaw and rain of Saturday night and Sunday caused a sudden rise in the Monongahela river at Pittsburgh, so that between thirty and forty coal barges were lost, and it is feared that twelve men have been drowned. It was a very exciting time there Monday morning, and river men were doing all they could to save lives and property.

We regret to notice the death of Rev. Dr. G. S. Vallandigham, of New Lisbon, brother to the late distinguished C. L. Vallandigham of Dayton. The doctor was at Cincinnati on business, and died rather suddenly. For many years his health was feeble, yet he did a little in the practice of medicine, and ministered to one or two congregations of the Episcopal church. He was a very amiable man, and his family and the community will feel his loss.

We notice that Geo. C. King has has purchased the drug store of Dr. E. C. Luks. Mr. King comes to us highly recommended as a druggist, and shows fine business talents. His store is the finest and best arranged in Massillon; every department is complete, and the stock is strictly of the best quality of goods. He has employed W. H. Lostetter, as prescription clerk. Mr. L. has had a large experience in that line, and patrons of that department can depend on having their medicines compounded correctly and neatly,—the prescription department is open all night. The stock of goods has been largely increased. Our readers will find a full line of stationery, blank books, &c. Fine candies of celebrated makes. The tobacco department is complete, with cigars, imported and domestic; fine cuts, plug tobacco, Black and the celebrated Bright Atlantic Navy, which never fail to please the lovers of the weed. The public is cordially invited to call and see the stock, whether they wish to purchase or not. They will be treated politely.

Our highly esteemed brother, Alexander Clark, editor of the Methodist Recorder, Pittsburgh, who has been in the ministry now going on almost a score of years, very sensibly repudiates the title Rev. as a prefix to his name. His course is worthy of all commendation, and in adopting it he follows the practice of many of the best men—even among divines—now living, or who have preceded us. Alexander Campbell, if we are not mistaken, took the same ground—indeed, he regarded it as a sort blasphemy to assume such a title, which no man could at all with propriety apply to himself.

Judge Davis, before whom Stokes was tried and found guilty of murder in the first degree, has at last consented that the accused shall have a new trial before the general term. This may give him two months more of life, or possibly lead to his acquital—there is no telling what may come in these New York courts.

Last Saturday the miners, reported some 2500, had a great demonstration at Youngstown, marching through the streets with bands of music. Addresses were made by some of the leaders. The object of the parade is to discourage colored labor. All reported quiet, as the mayor had the grogshops closed. The best thing these man can do will be to go to work, and not be fooling about is this way. Report says they have also struck at the Dover mines.

A story is floating around in the papers that a Mrs Williams, of Church Hill, Mahoning country, wife of a miner, recently died of starvation. The Miner contradicts the assertion, and says the woman died of consumption. It is no use to raise such a reports about the miners, even if they do make mistakes, for if a community in this country lets anybody starve to death, it is a disgrace to the people, whether miners or not, wherever such an occurrence takes place.

One evening a week or two ago our Salem neighbors had the satisfaction of listening to a lecture by Robert Collyer, of Chicago. Mr. C. is a free religionist, or perhaps Universalist, but even the orthodox people of Salem are much pleased with his manner of speech. On the evening of the 7th of March Anna E. Dickinson, of Philadelphia, is to speak at the same place. In the matter of public lectures Salem is far ahead of other places of much larger population—but they were always ahead there in these things.

In the credit mobilier matter the committee having in charge the business thereof, it is reported have decided to expel Ames of Massachusetts and Brooks of N. Y., while they will administer reproof to others implicated.

The Volcano Furnace which stopped a short time ago for want of coal, is again in blast.

About one hundred colored miners lately commenced work at the Powers' bank, near Youngstown; and some sixty or seventy additional miners, of the same class, recently commenced operating the Robbines mines near New Lisbon. These people came from Virginia and Maryland.

Cleveland is soon to be favored with some of the notables of the country. Mr. Beecher is to lecture there soon, and Mr. Stanley of Livingstone memory will also be at the same place. Mr. Beecher is to be at Pittsburgh too at an early day. Mrs. Woodhull, it is said, proposes to follow Mr. Beecher at these places, perhaps on to Chicago.

By advertisement in to-day's paper it will be seen that all varieties of household wants can be supplied at W. E. London's grocery.

Yesterday as the sun came out pleasantly the weather wore the appearance of spring. But it is not for us to be thus favored very long. Snow has been visiting other places not far off. Then there is to be more freezing.

A series of valuable articles will be commenced in our next on the subject of Astronomy.

Circulars, Bills of Fare, Ball Cards, Catalogues, Reports, Lecture Tickets, Pamphlets, in short, all kinds of plain and colored job printing done at this office on reasonable terms.

On the 4th of March Mr. D. H. McLaughlin, living a little south of town, will offer for sale four horses, three cows and other cattle, seven goats (one a William goat), wagons, plows, and other agricultural implements, besides a quantity of household goods. He forbids intoxicating liquors on the premises.

On the 27th inst L. J. Harting, 1½ miles east of Lawrence, two colts, three cows, several calves, farming tools, wagon, reaper and mower, beside many other articles.

Daniel Brinker offers for sale some fifteen acres of land located in Tuscarawas township, on which are a dwelling house and other buildings, and a good variety of fruit trees.

We are now prepared to do all kinds of plain or colored job printing with neatness and dispatch.

The Catholic church in Great Britain has about 2.500 priests and 1.620 churches, 82 religious communities for churchmen, 280 for women and 4,500,000 lay members.

We observe that our Jolly neighbor, I B Dangler, across the street, has just been indulging in a new stock of goods—first of the season.

Dr. Watson has within the last few days received a very large assortment of wall paper, and is prepared to furnish customers with anything they may need in that line.

A whisky judge—Green—at Columbus has decided a portion of the Adair law to be unconstitutional. His decisions will be overlooked.

Our Wooster neighbors are making extensive preparations for celebrating Washington's birth day, which they will attend to Friday evening next. A large number of citizens are an committees, and they appear to be in earnest. The Republican says they will have lots of ham, turkeys and such to eat, but no crow.

It is common to bribe people to become subscribers to papers these days, by giving them cheap books, or pictures, or something else nice and desirable. We have a bribe in the shape of the Great Industries of the United states, which a few new subscribers can have for four dollars a copy, including the INDEPENDENT for one year. It is one of the great works of the times, and abounds with useful information. Call and see it.

LIBERAL LECTURES.—On Thursday and Friday evenings, the 27th and 28th inst, of next week, two free lectures will be given in the Opera House, by Mr. Underwood, a celebrated speaker, of Boston. As the lecturer occupies a broad platform, especially as regards to human relations and duties, it will be well to turn out and hear him, for he will have something to say which will be well worth listening to. His utterances may not be in harmony with the notions of many people, and for that reason he ought to be heard. So that if he says anything wrong or out of the way, he may be righted up. We hope our preachers will all be on hand and give him a hearing, so they can be able to examine and criticise for themselves.

TRANSFERS.—G P Wetmore to N S Russell, Massillon, lot in Massillon, $2,000; Wm B Kirk to Martin Worntz, lot in Fulton, $375; A. Bowman to P. Sonhalter, 2 acres in Tuscarawas tp, $775; Catharine Deling to A. Volkmer, lot in Massillon, $600.

In regard to the rolling mill everything is progressing most satisfactorily. Just as soon as the weather permits work will commence, and that will be before many weeks.

Every person who reads to any extent is more or less familiar with something about Ireland. On Thursday and Friday evenings of this week an exhibition—something of the panorama sort, it is supposed, will take place in the Opera House, to which the attention of the public is respectfully directed. A great many points in that celebrated country will be presented to views, and, as the nature of the exhibition is of an instructive character it will be well for the young as well as the old to be present and see for themselves. Of course our Irish citizens will be interested in seeing presentations of their native country, or the land of their ancestors.

Of course the new railroad will need repair shops, and Massillon is the location for them. Here the company own land sufficient for that purpose; and the place is central—coal, stone and iron are in abundance, so that it seems natural as well as expedient to erect such buildings and works in this city. The company, and all interested, will appreciate these and other advantages inseparable from such arrangement.

In regard to the Union schools of this place, we are informed that there will be no vacation in March—at least not of the customary sort—but that school will keep right along till about June, or the time for beginning the long recess.

George Zielly, one of the best hotel managers in the country, will leave the Zielley House on the coming first of April, which will complete his third or fourth year in that place. During that time Mr. Z. has won a high position among traveling people and those who live at hotels for his affability and success in filling so responsible a place. Who will succeed him is not known to us.

Sunday was a dark, rainy day—gloomy, melancholy enough for November—and it must have been tough work for some of the preachers to keep all their hearers awake.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL
PURELY — CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has never been known to fail, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceived.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by Derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful Agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Boils, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Such a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual on the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is for upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typefounders, Miners, Quicksilver Miners, as they advance in life are subject to a paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal organs. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for this purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulate the secretions of the liver, and generally restore the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and inveterate cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all the above cases in a similar manner, by purifying the blood, which they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in cases of Colitis and malignant fevers. Their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties relieve the throat and lungs. Their sedative properties relieve pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, &c.

Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, &c.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold if a system thus fore-armed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great Invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wineglassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beefsteak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take outdoor exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

Why Endure What is Curable?

"What can't be cured must be endured," says the proverb; but indigestion can be cured, and therefore it is the merest stupidity to endure it. Dyspeptics have certainly a right to continue dyspeptics to the end of their days if they choose, but as it is not supposed that any rational being prefers physical torment to easy and good health, the probability is that if all sufferers from indigestion were convinced that an absolute, infallible remedy for their complaint existed, they would with one accord resort to it. We most emphatically declare that such a remedy does exist, and that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of its success extends over a period of more than twenty years, and it is fearlessly alleged that during the whole of that time it has never failed to afford permanent relief in any disorder or derangement of the stomach that was not organic, malignant, and incurable. The testimonials that go to establish this important fact can be counted by the thousand. Stomach complaints that had been aggravated by a total disregard of all dietary rules, and intensified and rendered chronic by medicinal treatment or drastic purgation, have in hundreds of instances been cured within three months by the systematic use of this celebrated stomachic and alterative. It should be remembered that weakness of the digestive organs involves many other ailments. Biliousness, headache, nervous debility, spasms, palpitation of the heart, rush of blood to the head, nausea, vertigo, and sleeplessness are among its concomitants and results; and to all these great vegetable tonic is a specific. It acts first upon the stomach, and through the nerves upon the secretory and nervous systems and the bowels, its general effects being always genial and beneficent.

REMAINS OF AZTEC CIVILIZATION.

The Tulare (California) Times of January 11th has the subjoined sketch: P. D. Green informs us that in the vicinity of Tehachipi there are numerous and varied remains and evidence of an cient Aztec civilization. There are on the sides of the hills, running in differ nt directions well defined aqueducts and ditches. The soil is a firm cement which does not wash away. In these ditches there are giant oak trees growing, as large and evidently as old as those of the surrounding forests, showing that the ditches must have been constructed hundreds and perhaps thousands of years ago. One of these leads to a silver-bearing ledge on which shafts had been sunk, and from the bottom of which shaft drifts run in different directions, showing that the aborigines had mined for the precious minerals in the days of old. This old mine was rediscovered by the Narbeau brothers, known in this vicinity, who worked for a considerable time in and from the self same shafts first sunk by the ancient inhabitants of the continent. The lode did not prove as rich as it was hoped it would and the Narbeau brothers finally abandoned it. In running a water ditch through this region, Green once had occasion to remove a venerable oak tree. In taking away the roots, he observed that immediately under where the tree had stood the soil was different from the cement surrounding—that it partook of the nature of vegetable mould and debris, being very soft and easily pen etrated. Following down, an ancient shaft was easily traced, and on removing the debris, was most clarly defin ed, the walls remaining perpendicular, intact and solid. At the bottom of this shaft the skeleton of a men was found, immediately underneath and covered up by a pile of ashes, remaining from some ancient fire. The tree growing over this shaft was evidently hundreds of years old, showing that the excavation had been made long centuries before the advent of the Spaniards.

The Golden Age refers to this important subject as follows:

"For heaven's sake, give us no more women's colleges till the hundreds of thousands of women, highly-bread and highly-educated already, know some honest trade to put bread into their mouths. Skilled labor in the finer departments of needle-work, upholstery, confectionery, type-setting, preserving of fruits, and photography, steadily command from $20 to $30 a week in this and other cities. Now there are women by the hundred to translate in German, Spanish, Portuguese, and Italian; there are artists many, reporters many, and lecturers not a few, reaping an equivocal success; but the tasteful mantua-makers, the clever pastry-cooks, the fast type-setters, are scarcer than gold. And the result is that women of culture and family are beginning to step into the field of manual l bor, bringing their skill and taste to bear on the methods they need, and winning sure, substantial reward. The college culture that unfits a woman for these great practical industries secures for her the questionable advantage of literature on five dollars a week, while a good trade, well mastered and followed, will give her twenty, if not fifty. Besides, in less than a dozen years all the decent colleges in the land will advertise for young women to come and share their privileges and enchance their attractiveness."

Governor Baker, in his Annual Message to the legislature of Indiana, says:

"The intelligent legislator cannot close his eyes to the fact that the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors is fearfully prevalent; and that it is the fruitful source of pauperism and crime, of social disorder and domestic wretchedness. Nor can it be doubted that much the larger share of this intemperance is caused by the existence of the many places where public tippling is practised for pecuniary grain, under the auspices of the state. While it must be conceded that man cannot be made virtuous by statutary enactments, it does not follow that schools of vice and nurseries of crime ought not to be restrained or suppressed to that extent to which public opinion will sustain and execute the law made for that purpose.

"As Mr. Lincoln said of slavery, so say I of tippling-houses, namely, if they are not wrong, then nothing is wrong. Every existing wrong cannot, however, be overthrown in a day by a mere act of legislative authority; but it does not follow from this that nothing is to be done looking or tending to such an overthrow. The legislation of the state should on this suoject keep pace with the public opinion; and it would be better to have the law a little in advance of public opinion than to have it lag far behind. Good laws aid in the formation of a healthy public opinion aids in the formation and execution of good laws."

REWARDED WITH STRIPES.

Rev. John Reisteiner, of Richmond, Indiana, is a minister man of muscle. When his wife does not put the 'amens' in at the right time, he waxes wroth, and hops to his feet in anger. The other day he prayed:

"O Lord, you know what a poor miserable sinner, what a deceitful worm of the dust I am!"

"Amen—AMEN!" shouted his wife, who was kneeling before a chair with her face against the back thereof.

The Rev. John arose,
Stepped softly on his toes
(Breathed not through his nose,)
And welted well with blows
On back, and head, and nose, the audacious wife of his bosom, laying with many stripes the lash of a horse-whip kept in the house for such purpose. An ungodly justice of the peace fined the reverend bruiser $160 for the exercise, and told him that a woman who knew her business had a right to say amen, especially when she knew when that word was appropriate.

The Cleveland Herald is sensible when it says in relation to the new postal law, that the free exchange in newspapers is essential. If the exchange list of the country was cut off, or taxed so as to be a burden, it would be a serious blow to the interests of the country, for local prosperity grows up through the local press. It might not be objectionable to city papers, and those who have official patronage; but it would be an unjust discrimination against the very mediums that should have encouragement, if any discriminations are made. There are also other unjust features in the bill, that we hope may be remedied.

Rev. Stephen H. Tyng is about to edit the Working Churchman, which moves Theodore Tilton to say: "Successful ministers often make very stupid editors, as half of our denominational papers. Somehow the types, refuse to reproduce their tones, gestures, and good looks."

Uncle: "Now, Sammy, tell me, have you ever read the beautiful story of Joseph?" Sam: "Oh, yes," Uncle: "Well, then, what wrong did they do when sold their brother?" Sam: "They sold him entirely too cheap, I think."

That was a good, though rather a severe pun, which was made by a student in one of our theological seminaries, when he asked, "Why is Professor —— the greatest revivalist of the age?" and, on all giving it up, said: "Because at the close of every sermon there is a 'great awakening.'"—Index.

When Sydney Smith had gravely listened to the details of a mad dog's course through the streets of London—how he frightened a bishop, and was at length dispatched with difficulty—the clerical wit remarked that he should like to hear the dog's side of the story.'

The boy that recommended a few drops of panegyric on sugar for the child of disquietude, has his match in another, who, after spelling "chicanary," defined it to be a "large coop to raise ch ckens."

Whittier being asked for an autograph, at once complied by penning—"The name is but the shadow of which we find, too often larger than the man behind."

A Midland man, after gazing long and attentively at the telegraph, amused a bystander with the remark: 'I've noticed that thing often, an' durned ef I should not like to see it work.'

A lady was asking an applicant for the office of maid of all work, when she inquired—'Well, Mary, can you scour tin ware with alacaity?' She replied, 'No, mum, I always scour them with sand.'

Consumption—Early Treatment.—Thousands and tens of thousands of cases of consumption, as well as other diseases of a kindred character, could be easily cured in the beginning of their course by a resort to Dr Keyser's Lung cure. It is as near a specific for consumption, catarrh, and bronchitis as can possibly be made. It does not weaken, but builds up the constitution, neutralizes the morbid poison of tubercles in the blood, and carries that out which is forming or which has already formed. Its method of action has already been discussed in an essay by Dr K. of 32 pages, which will be sent free to all who desire it. Address Dr Keyser, 167 Liberty st, Pittsburg, Pa. Ayer's Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will present the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in the drug shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in proportion to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect, but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any Calomel or other forms of mercury or any other mineral poison.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High Colored Urine, Unsociability, and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair them; their sugar-coating and being enclosed in glass bottles preserve their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable, which is not the case with the pills found in the drug stores, put up in cheap wood or paste-board boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all enterprising Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Do not allow any druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good as my Pellets because he makes a larger profit on that which he recommends. If your druggist cannot supply them, enclose 25 cents and receive them by return mail from

FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the unsightly skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

Wishart's Pine Tree

TAR CORDIAL.

Nature's Great Remedy

FOR THE

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr L Q C Wishart's Pine Tree tar Cordial, for throat and lung diseases, has gained an enviable fame from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the states actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which causes irritation.

Second. It removes the cause of irritation (which produces cough) of the mucous membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions and purifies the blood

Third. It is free from squills, lobelia, ipecac and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay the cough only, and disorganize the stomach. It has a soothing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it holds above all others in the market.

NOTICE.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial,

Great American Dyspepsia Pills,

And Worm Sugar Drops

Being under my immediate direction, they shall not lose their curative qualities by the use of the cheap and impure articles.
